FACULTY AND STAFF MOUNT KANTIYAWAN 2016

As mentioned in last week's Inter-Office Bulletin, St. Paul University Manila will celebrate its 104th foundation year with University Week 2016, featuring activities for the whole Paulinian community, with the theme "SPU Manila @104: Alive in the Word, Celebrating God's Love, Mercy, and Compassion."

One of the highlights of University Week, which will be on 25-27 January 2016, will be the "Kantiyawan," a presentation by the faculty and staff on 26 January. There will be two shows, at 2:30 and 5:30 P.M. in the Fleur-de-lis Theater.

The presentation is most eagerly awaited by the students as it is one time when the teachers and staff let their hair down, each group trying to outdo the others in lampooning current showbiz personalities.

Scheduled for today, 25 January are the Opening Mass and the service awards program in the Fleur-de-lis Theater and the opening of varied college booths in the quadrangle. Highlights of the first day of the celebration will be Paulinian Popstar, Voiceline, Paulinian Banchetto, and Paulinian Feast.

On 27 January, there will be a zumba session in the morning, followed by bloodletting activity and first aid training.

Slam Jam and Concert for a Cause will highlight the third day.

The championship games and minor games of the Father Louis Chauvet Cup (FLCC) will be held simultaneously during the three days. Capping the FLCC will be the awarding ceremony on 27 January.

The STAR Office will be selling shirts and hoodies for a cause in their booth in the quadrangle.

SPM-USA CELEBRATE ST. PAUL FEAST DAY

Marilyn Abalos, one of the leaders of SPM-USA, an alumni group organized by High School 1969 and based in New York, shares the news that they will be one with the Paulinians in the Philippines in celebrating the feast day of St. Paul.

The group invited Paulinians and friends in New York to a Mass at 12:00 NN, 24 January 2016 in St. Patrick's Cathedral. The invitation from the group says: "St. Paul University in Manila and Quezon City, St. Paul Pasig and other campuses in the Philippines commemorate our patron saint this month of January. We too in the New York area would like to celebrate the Conversion of St. Paul. While St. Paul's Feast Day is on January 25th, we plan to meet on Sunday, January 24th and share the good news together. St. Patrick's Cathedral is located on 5th Avenue and 50th Street in Manhattan. Please RSVP at spmusa@gmail.com so we can meet up before the Mass. Then we can continue our celebration with a no-host brunch nearby."
