

CHRISTENDOM CELEBRATES THE LORD'S RESURRECTION POPE FRANCIS CALLS FOR PEACE

Under tight security in St. Peter's Square in Rome, tens of thousands of worshipers from around the world thronged to a Mass celebrated by Pope Francis on Easter Sunday.

The Pope began the day with a post on Twitter: "Our faith is born on Easter morning: Jesus is alive! The experience is at the heart of the Christian message." He then delivered the papal blessing "Urbi et Orbi" ("To the City and to the World") from the central balcony of St. Peter's Basilica.

The night before, Francis celebrated an Easter Vigil service at St. Peter's, where he baptized eight adults into the Roman Catholic faith, including a Nigerian migrant, John Ogah, called a hero in Italy for foiling a robbery.

In his message on Sunday, the pope called for peace in a world marked by war and conflict. He cited a need to end the "carnage" in "the beloved and long-suffering land of Syria."

He urged "reconciliation" in the Middle East and pressed for "the fruits of dialogue" to defuse tensions on the Korean Peninsula. He also noted the "hunger, endemic conflicts and terrorism" suffered by parts of Africa.

Francis also touched on the problems in Venezuela, voicing hope that the country would "find a just, peaceful and humane way to surmount quickly the political and humanitarian crises that grip it."

The pope said the message of the Resurrection offered hope in a world "marked by so many acts of injustice and violence."

He added: "It bears fruits of hope and dignity where there are deprivation and exclusion, hunger and unemployment; where there are migrants and refugees, so often rejected by today's culture of waste, and victims of the drug trade, human trafficking and contemporary forms of slavery."

At the Mass, Francis urged Catholics not to remain paralyzed in the face of injustice, and he challenged them to “break out” of their routines and to let God in. (From The New York Times)

A Roundtable Discussion on Data Privacy in the Academe

16 March 2018, Henry Sy Innovation Center, Miriam College, Quezon City

Organizers: Catholic Educational Association of the Philippines
NCR Administrative Services Committee and the National Privacy Commission

Republic Act No. 10173, also known as the Data Privacy Act (DPA) of 2012, ensures that entities or organizations processing personal data establish policies and implement measures and procedures that guarantee the safety and security of personal data under their control or custody, thereby upholding an individual’s data privacy rights.

The discussion aimed to:

- talk about relevant data privacy topics in schools, such as types of processing systems to be registered; common types of data breaches; storage, retention and disposal of personal data; and best practices for data privacy and protection;
- address issues and related concerns on data privacy that are specific to the academic community; and
- discuss preparations during compliance visit.
