Dear students,

A Catholic educational institution commited to forming persons into becoming integrated, competent, and compassionate in the service of society, St. Paul University Manila is one of the top and finest schools in the Philippines. It is an institution with 105 years of tradition and admirable service to the youth.

St. Paul University Manila is proud of its achievements and numerous awards, such as being one of the first Philippine Higher Education Institutions to be granted full autonomous status by the Commission on Higher Education, a Center of Excellence in Music Education, a Center of Development in Nursing, Institutional Accreditation granted by the Federation of Accrediting Agencies in the Philippines, Level III accreditation of most academic programs, and outstanding performance in licensure examination, all of which speak well of the excellent Paulinian education offered by St. Paul University Manila.

You may think of the university as a means towards achieving your dreams, ambitions, and goals—a necessary step towards a successful career. It will be that, and much more. We are here not only to prepare you for a career, nor just to provide you with the fundamental and professional knowledge and skills necessary to become useful citizens and productive professionals. We are here to develop and mold you into holistic persons capable of living life to the full.

Abraham Maslow says, "Man has his future within him, dynamically alive in the present moment." We believe that you have unique gifts within yourselves and you just have to recognize and deepen your appreciation for those gifts. St. Paul University Manila is here to lead you to discover the beauty that is in you and, thus inspire you to become the best that you can be.

Come and be a part of St. Paul University Manila, your HOME away from home.

Sr. Ma. Evangeline L. Anastacio, SPC
University President